ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A plugable call control application program interface includes a base plugable call control application program interface to expose a common set of function calls, properties, and callbacks to be utilized by a plurality of call control protocols. An extended application program

5   interface is adapted to provide advanced function calls, properties, and callbacks beyond the common set.